

WIN A MEAL FOR 2 AT COMPTOIR LIBANAIS

Calling all cab drivers, enter this competition for the chance to leave the taxi rank and get yourself down to Comptoir Libanais, the Lebanese canteen, delicatessen and shop, for a free meal for two at Comptoir in Wigmore Street.

Restaurateur Tony Kitous, renowned for his Kenza, Pasha and Levant restaurants, took a total departure from his usual sumptuous dining experience by launching the cool and contemporary Comptoir Libanais a year ago at Westfields, in West London. Tony's ethos was to bring affordable Middle Eastern cuisine, in chic surroundings to the capital. Due to its huge success and wide acclaim, Tony has since launched a flagship site in Wigmore Street, another in Paddington and is about to launch his fourth in the O2 Centre on the Finchley Road.

Once inside, a beautiful kaleidoscope of mezze, salads, dips and breads, against floor-to-ceiling shelves showcasing a treasure trove of Middle Eastern products, greet diners. With brilliant red and brushed-chrome industrial stools, bold-patterned turquoise tables, monochrome geometric flooring and an eye-catching mural inspired by the Middle Eastern movie star, you'll know you've entered a brave new world in affordable modern dining.

The lucky winner and guest can choose from delicious offerings including a mezze platter to share - hommos, tabbouleh, falafel, baba ghanuj, spinach fatayer, pumpkin kibbeh, pickles & pitta; chicken kofta wraps - spiced infused chicken, pickled cucumber & tomato, with garlic sauce or lamb sambousek – minced lamb wheat parcels with pine nuts and yoghurt. For those of you choosing the Wigmore Street restaurant, it also has a 'bring your own' policy, with no corkage charge, so you can enjoy the beverage of your choice, for free.
