

65 YEARS VICTORY IN EUROPE

On 17th April 2010 the committee of the London Taxi Benevolent Association for War Disabled attended a function at the community centre at Hawkinge in Kent. During the war this was one of the front line fighter stations. Today it is now a modern housing estate, but it still retains its link to the past by having a museum on the site. This event was organised by Kas, a singer who has regularly appeared at our annual outing to Worthing. It was titled "Sing and Swing along to a Charity Street Party celebrating 65 years of Victory in Europe". Kas entertained the 200 strong audience during the evening and a DJ called Gypsy John provided the rest of the entertainment and music. Many of the guests were dressed in World War Two uniforms and civilian clothes, dancing to the music of the 1940's. During the evening the Chairman of The London Taxi Benevolent Association For War Disabled Mr Richard Hudd was presented with a cheque from Mr Matthew Jury Chairman Of The Margate Round Table. All too soon the evening was coming to an end with everybody joining in with the singing. Our thanks go to Kas for organising this event.

BACK UP IMPORTANT DATA WITH CLICKFREE

The sickening feeling you get when your computer goes wrong and loses your precious files, such as photographs, means you need to backup files regularly but this can involve time consuming copying to an external hard drive. At the Gadget Show at the NEC Birmingham recently, one stand which caught my attention for its simple answer to backing up files was Clickfree. Their award-winning solutions make the backup of your computer easy. It really is simple to use; simply plug in, no technical know how is needed to perform backup. Clickfree's new BackupLink technology means you can backup multiple computers across your home or office network, completely automatically. Connect the C2N by USB, one time, to each computer on the network, leave it connected to one of the computers and C2N then automatically backups all of the computers. No set-up, configuration or reading is required to perform backup. "Our C2N brings a new level of simplicity to network backup for the home or office," said Bryan McLeod, CEO Clickfree Automatic Backup.

Also available is the Transformer Network Edition Adapter with BackupLink technology. Owners of any external USB hard drive coupled with the Transformer NE can have the same backup experience, features and automatic network set-up function that are in the C2N. For more details, log on to www.clickfree.com where you will see the full range. The C2N is available in 250GB (£119.00), 320GB (£139.00), 500GB (£159.00), 640GB (£179.99). The price for the Transformer Network Edition will retail for £79.99. Clickfree also has a Traveler Micro-SD for Blackberry, which turns your Smartphone into an easy way to backup important files from your computer. Simply insert the Clickfree Traveler Micro-SD Card into the Blackberry Micro-SD slot, connect the phone to your computer and backup begins with one touch of a button. You also get an extra layer of security with the Traveler for Blackberry as it comes with encryption technology. Or there is a Traveler SD works with the SD card slot found in most computers. Again back up is click free, insert the card once and backup will launch automatically. It is also pre-set and programmable to backup on schedule.

NEW DEMO HELD IN ALDWYCH

Following on from the demo on 26th May, a further protest took place on 2nd June. This second protest was also staged by a group known as 'United Cabbies' who communicate online via the Internet. The message the drivers wanted to get across to those in authority is simple; Enforce the Law.
